

Effluent Services

System Design

Reid & Harrison Services is an industry leader with a wealth of industry experience and know how. We are a 'Farm Dairy Effluent System' design accredited company, and have a team of dedicated people specialising in all aspects of dairy effluent management from catchment to pasture, reducing the environmental impact and maximising the benefits of your 'natural resources'.

MEETING THE STANDARDS.

Reid & Harrison Services has always taken the recognisable position of 'best practise policy' helping farmers achieve their objectives whilst being environmentally sustainable. In 2011 Envirotech commenced the DairyNZ initiative of formalising the long standing effluent guidelines into a code of practice, and in early 2012 became 'Farm Dairy Effluent System' design accredited. In 2016 Reid & Harrison acquired Envirotech and has continued with the same philosophy.

FARM SPECIFIC

With Reid & Harrison Services you have the confidence and peace of mind knowing you have a highly functional code compliant system that best suits your individual situation. The old adage 'do it once - do it right' has never made more economic sense than it does right now. When designing your effluent system we work with you to meet the code in a manner that best suits your resources, site, and operational requirements to achieve compliance 365 days of the year. This is why Reid & Harrison Services works hard to ensure your design is farm specific.

FULL AUTOMATION OR LOW TECH

Regardless of whether we are designing a low tech system or full automation, simplicity and ease of use are our priority. We can design a system with integrated fail safe features and VSD flow control for precision application and monitoring in every paddock. We have a solution that will reduce operating costs while helping to lift production and free up your time.

Our efficient and professional team can provide system upgrades or full system design; offering project management, product supply, or a complete turn-key solution.
